Expertise Overview

Camille McMahan is an associate attorney on the general liability defense group.

Camille graduated from Willamette University College of Law in 2021 where she received a certificate in international and comparative law. Prior to law school, she attended Colorado State University where she graduated with a B.A. in History and International Studies and minor in French.

During law school, Camille was an extern for the Honorable Michael H. Simon on the U.S. District Court for the District of Oregon. She was also a law clerk for the Oregon Department of Justice, Civil Litigation Section, and a pre-litigation case manager for a personal injury law firm in Denver, Colorado. Camille was also the managing editor of the Willamette Journal of International Law and Dispute Resolution.

Camille grew up in Florissant, Colorado in the middle of the Rocky Mountains. While she misses the snow in Colorado, Camille loves how green the PNW is. She loves the outdoors, skiing, and snowboarding. Before attending law school, Camille was a tour guide and front desk agent in Denali, Alaska, and she taught youth snowboarding lessons in Colorado. Outside of work Camille enjoys hiking, walking her dogs around Oregon, listening to music, and reading. Camille also loves the Great British Baking Show and is working on her baking skills in her free time.
